

Malus domestica 'Red Fuji'

RED FUJI FRUITING APPLE

This variety produces a crisp, firm and juicy apple good for eating fresh and brewing into cider. The fruit is medium-sized with skin colour described as a dull red over a green-yellow background with some russet tones.

A good apple for eating and brewing into cider.

Prefers a sunny position with well-drained soil. Water in well and keep soil moist until tree is established. Fertilise and prune yearly to encourage new growth and fruit the following year. Will perform in both cold and warmer temperate climates.
