

Photinia beauverdiana

This deciduous tree is often overlooked in favour of other forms of Photinia. Great for hedging, it is a compact tree suitable for low screens or planted as a feature specimen. It has purple-brown new growth and good autumnal colour. Panicles of white flowers are produced in spring.

This variety is suitable for hedging and low screens and can be clipped easily to keep into shape.

Prefers a moist, well drained soil but will tolerate a variety of conditions.

Foliage Evergreen

Form Broad-domed

Mature Size 5 x 3m

Family Rosaceae

Small

Evergreen

Broad-domed

Formal Screening

Hedging

Disclaimer: The material contained on the Speciality Trees website is for general information only. Although much care has been taken to provide the information on its website, Speciality Trees does not warrant the accuracy, completeness or currency of this information and its suitability to your needs. All material listed on the Speciality Trees website, its associated links and product sheets are varieties either ready for sale or in production. This is an information source and not confirmation of availability. It is strongly recommended that users enquire about product availability independently of this source.