

Prunus avium 'Simone'

SIMONE CHERRY

This variety produces large fruit. Cherries are almost the size of a small plum. Fruit is tasty, black and succulent. It is self-pollinating although having another variety will increase its yield. Harvest time is late December to early January. It is similar in appearance to 'Lapin'.

This variety ideal home garden variety and bears consistent crops. It is self-pollinating. It is considered a good fruit for eating. Relatively split resistant.

it is suitable for growing in warm temperate and cool temperate regions.

Foliage Deciduous

Form Oval

Mature Size 2-2.5 x 1.5m

Family Rosaceae

Small

Deciduous

Oval

Fruiting & Edible

Specimen

Disclaimer: The material contained on the Speciality Trees website is for general information only. Although much care has been taken to provide the information on its website, Speciality Trees does not warrant the accuracy, completeness or currency of this information and its suitability to your needs. All material listed on the Speciality Trees website, its associated links and product sheets are varieties either ready for sale or in production. This is an information source and not confirmation of availability. It is strongly recommended that users enquire about product availability independently of this source.